Fall Football Frenzy at Carmel High

Padres Wow Gilroy

"Now is the winter of our discontent made glorious . . ." by our Padres (with apologies to old Will S.)

Carmel really put on a "heads up" show last Saturday and walloped Gilroy good and plenty. Touchdowns in each quarter, two in the second and also in the final quarter, plus some excellent extra point kicking, ran up the Padres impressive score of 41 against Gilroy's 14 points.

In such a splendid team effort

Tonight! Movies of the Carmel - Gilroy game will be shown at Carmel High School Rooms 6 and 7. There will be TWO showings—at 7:30 and at 8:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

it is perhaps unfair to single out individual fine plays, but there was plenty of spirited tackling, cool, successful passing and fine speedy break-away for the touchdowns.

It is a pleasure also to pay tribute to the foe. Gilroy fought long and well and their second touchdown in the closing minutes brought them well-deserved consolation.

Keep it up Padres, there's plenty of work ahead. —EFCEE

Fire Demonstration Tonight

Carmel's Volunteer Fire Department will give a fire-fighting demonstration tonight at 7:30 in front of the Firehouse, Sixth, between San Carlos and Mission.

Spike Heels Rated Illegal In Carmel Without Special Permit From City

Carmel's City Council last night made it illegal to wear spike heels without first obtaining a permit from the city.

A letter from the city's insurance agents pointed out that quaint sidewalks are not compatible with high fashion. When Councilman Frank Putnam asked to speak on the question, Mayor Eben Whittlesey cautioned that the city has no shelter program for the council.

The city of Mobile, Alabama, put such an ordinance in effect in 1959. They have had no slip and fall claims since.

The mayor pointed out that high fashion was not being outlawed, but that those who persist in wearing spike heels must do so at their own hazard.

The measure, signed to cut down injury claims in "slip and fall" accidents, requires that a person wearing shoes with less than one square inch of bearing surface obtain a permit from City Hall. To obtain the permit one must sign a waiver of any claims against the city.

A public hearing was held on the use permit for Carmel Presbyterian Church, at which Alton Walker, financial secretary of the church, spoke in behalf of the petitioners. He said the church had, for $50,000, purchased 12,000 square feet of area, but at this time was asking for rezoning to P-3 on only half of this.

Councilman James Buffington pointed out that the city should consider the further effects of expansion of non-profit organizations granted use permits in R-1 areas. The hearing was termed the first reading of the ordinance granting the use permit.

In response to a request originally made by the Carmel Citizens' Committee, a public hearing to study limitation of size of future buildings was set for November 6.

Mayor Whittlesey reported that a number of meetings have been conducted with the Carmel Unified School District to explore the possibility of acquiring a portion of the Sunset School site. He said further exploration was warranted and the matter should be continued, which it was.

Due to the success of the tree planting day held last spring by the city forestry commission, another will be held on Nov. 23, it was revealed. That body's life was also extended for another year, and Councilman Herbert Blanks said he hoped the group would be more active in the future.

In other matters the council:

Provided $500 to cover part of the expense of the expected visitors from Spain in conjunction with the 250th anniversary of the birth of Fr. Junipero Serra.

Declined a request by Monterey County Symphony Orchestra for a $500 donation. Councilman Blanks suggested the group come back after they have made their fund drive if a genuine emergency exists, and Councilman Buffington pointed out that Carmel's contribution, if any, should be in

Church-in-the-Round Discussion Programs

Two discussion programs, meeting on alternate weeks, eight sessions each, under auspices of the Church-in-the-Round begin this Monday evening.

"Focus: Latin America" is a presentation of the Foreign Policy Assn., which prepares the nationally used Great Decisions material. The present fact sheets on Latin America were made up at the request of the National Council of Catholic Women.

The alternating program, "Philosophical Perspectives" is a taped lecture series prepared by the Unitarian-Universalist Association of Boston, Mass.

The first meeting in the Latin-America series will be Monday, Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ruth Arndt, 1289 Bishop Place, Pacific Grove. The philosophical series will begin October 21. Interested persons are invited to call 624-4810 or 624-4432.

Jr. Hi P F Club To Hear Medill Bair

The Carmel Junior High Parent-Faculty Club will meet on Tuesday night, Oct. 15, at 7:45 in the student activity room on the Junior High campus.

The speaker will be the new superintendent of schools, Mr. Medill Bair, on the topic, "The Educational Program in the District."

Preceding the speaker the beginners' chorus will sing under the direction of Mr. Purdy.

All junior high parents are most cordially invited to attend.

The W. W. Robbins To Entertain Notables

In Carmel for the week-end, the house guests of the W. W. Robbins, will be Dr. Kurt Georg Kilsinger, minister president of Baden Wurttenburg and his daughter, Viola.

Also, Dr. Karl Brandt, director of the Institute of Food Research, Stanford University, and Mrs. Brandt.

Completing the illustrious party will be Dr. and Mrs. Claude Hutchison, former dean of the University of California, Berkeley and former mayor of Berkeley.

Dr. Kilsinger is scheduled to make an address at Stanford University this evening.

Feathers . . . From the Shaft

No. 28

By Harry the Fletcher

Overheard a youth one night recounting of his yearning for ways and means to take a flight to where he might be earning more. "Nothing doing here," he vowed, "Hometown's nothing but a nightmare." As he left he passed a crowd determined to make homes right there.

People blindly miss the trees for the forest at their fences; greener pastures seem to these far beyond their sleeping senses.

Opportunity is ripe underneath our turned-up noses; what we conjure out of life looks at first no bed of roses.

Hometown folks, who've "got it made," had the will, and let it guide them; not because they merely stayed, but because of what's inside them.

SEE CLEAR TO CHINA FROM THE FRONT WINDOWS.

What? Oh, the curve of the earth. All right; so you can't see clear to China, but you could if the earth were flat. Anyway, who cares to see China what with whales and otters and seals and ships right in your front yard, which just happens to consist of almost five acres to the mean high tide line of the most magnificent coast in the world, and only 20 minutes south from Carmel. Of course there's a charming 2 bedroom home, too, blended beautifully into the slope above the swing of the sea, and quite the most delightful guest house we've ever seen. And a cabana, and a greenhouse. Rights to perpetuity for water so pure it has that "clean taste" you'd almost forgotten water could have. If you've looked at walls too long, and if $75,000 (on terms) fits your budget, call Guy Stohr right now for an appointment. It may well be the most important phone call you've ever made.

Symphony Guild Tea Tuesday

The Monterey Symphony Guild's first Preview Tea will be held at the Pebble Beach home of Mrs. Richard Osborne next Tuesday afternoon. The gate fee will be waived for Guild members attending. Reservations may be made by calling 624-6657 before tomorrow evening.

Symphony orchestra conductor John Gosling will preview the coming 1963-64 season and discuss the first concert, using illustrative stereophonic records.

Tickets for the Symphonie de Elegance Fashion Show, to be held Nov. 14, at the Fort Ord Soldier's Club, fashions by I. Magnin, will be on sale at the tea. After Oct. 15 tickets may be purchased at the Browse Around Music Shop in Carmel and at other locations.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the Symphony Guild, thereby supporting the Monterey County Symphony, may write or telephone Mrs. J. A. McKay, membership chairman, Box 373, Pebble Beach, phone 624-4642.

Help the Handicapped Meeting Tomorrow Eve

Mrs. Elise Willson, Monterey County councillor for the State Vocational Rehabilitation of the Handicapped Service, will be the speaker presented tomorrow evening by the Monterey Committee for Employment of the Handicapped in cooperation with the Public Affairs Committee of Monterey Peninsula Altrusa, member club of Altrusa International.

Mrs. Willson, speaking on a subject of urgency to all employers of the country will highlight the economic value as well as the humane responsibility of employment of handicapped men and women who are able to work in specified fields.

Altrusa members acting as hostesses will be Mrs. Anita Church, of the Council for Vocational Rehabilitation of the Handicapped, Mrs. Gordon Nelson and Mrs. Mary McGaughey. Business men and women, employers and the interested public are urged to attend. The meeting will be held in the public affairs community room of the Monterey Public Library at 8 o'clock.

A. A. U. W. Rummage Sale Saturday

Miss Mary V. Illich, president of the Monterey Peninsula Branch of the American Association of University Women announces "donations beyond our highest hope" objects and clothing, new and used, have been pouring in for the A A U W Rummage Sale, to be held in the interest of Dollars for Scholars, in the Monterey County Fair Grounds, this Saturday from nine a.m. to four o'clock.

During the past year, 59 American women university graduates and 37 women graduates from other countries have been awarded A A U W fellowships. Two of these fellowships have been made possible by the Monterey Peninsula Branch contributions.

Carmel women who will be on the scene tomorrow, who have given endless hours of advance work, gathering rummage and creating booths, include: Mrs. Ellen Little, general chairman, Mrs. Fred Zimmerman, Miss Esther Williams, Mrs. Lewis Lenhart, Miss Florence M. Waller, Mrs. Richard Roberts and Mrs. Bruce Lyon.

Four members of the Community Hospital Auxiliary have been awarded their 1000 Hours Service pins. Honored for their service to the hospital were, Mrs. Rody Holt, Mrs. Edward McMurtry, Mrs. William Barthold and Mrs. Richard Bower.

Council Meeting

relationship to funds raised elsewhere.

Raised the mileage allowance for private cars used for city business to a straight 9 cents a mile.

Authorized an agreement between the city and the high school district by which a 1923 LuVerne fire truck will be completely restored and returned to full standby service as a pumper. This is the first motor-driven fire vehicle the city ever owned and is one of only two such vehicles in existence.

Declined a request by Captain Carroll to install concessions on Carmel Beach.

Took no action toward the acquisition of four lots at the corner of Mission and Seventh for a municipal parking lot. Councilman Putnam stated that the council was "becoming more and more remiss in not doing anything about parking . . . We owe an obligation to the business population of Carmel to tell them if the city plans to do nothing. We have been 'studying' the problem ever since the Second World War." Councilman Blanks pointed out that if nothing were done on the present matter, it was a start in giving that answer. With the exception of the mayor and Councilman Putnam, the council voted to take no action.

Heard Don Neher and Sidney Dibble speak on the problems of the Carmel Seniors Club and on the group's pleasure at an anonymous donor's offer to pay for the installation of an additional shuffleboard court in Forest Hill Park.

Agreed to let Pacific Telephone and Telegraph install a new type of public telephone at three locations on a trial basis.

Heard a report that the best offer on two new police cars was for two Dodges, similar to those being used by the state. Police Chief Clyde Kaumann was authorized to proceed with negotiation on the matter.

The meeting adjourned at 10:55.

Youth Auditions Oct. 12

School age musicians interested in auditioning for the Monterey County Symphony's Youth Orchestra can do so at the Monterey High School music room this Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. The auditions will be open to young musicians from this and surrounding counties.

Participants will be expected to sight read as well as to perform prepared selections in both solo and group tryouts. With the exception of the percussion and other extremely large instruments, students will be expected to provide their own instruments.

John Gosling, Monterey County Symphony conductor, will direct the orchestra, assisted by Owen Dunsford, Lloyd 'Bill' Clapper, Charles Harlan, and Dean Dempsey.

Mrs. R. Rolleston (Barbara) West entertained this afternoon for her house guests, Mr. H. W. Holloway of the Cotswold, Gloucestershire, and Mrs. Alice Crowther of London, England. Both of Barbara's guests are grandmothers she tells the Pine Cone. They have made the flying visit (their first to U.S.) particularly to visit the Wests.

Wildlife Film at Sunset Tuesday Evening

Presenting its first film of the 1963-64 season next Tuesday night in Sunset Auditorium, the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society, Carmel Unified School District and the National Audubon Society announce Chester P. Lyons, renowned naturalist and author, as the speaker, opening the 17th season of Wildlife films.

C. P. "Chess" Lyons was born near Regina, Saskatchewan, in Canada. At an early age he went with his family to British Columbia, where every free hour of his childhood was spent roaming the woodlands and forests.

A graduate of the University of British Columbia in Forest Engineering and officer in charge of special projects in British Columbia's Dept. of Recreation and Conservation, Mr. Lyon has had a wealth of experience.

Next Tuesday's Wildlife showing will be the first of five to be presented this winter. Tickets are obtainable, for the season or for single programs, at Camera Craft Shop in Carmel, the Poor Scholar Bookshop in Monterey and Pacific Grove Museum in Pacific Grove. For additional information call Charles L. Dawson, 624-1714.

Attending the opening of "Wages of Sin" at the First Theatre of Monterey last Friday evening were Mrs. Mame Burnette with her daughter, Mrs. Suzanne Snyder and her small grand-daughters, Patti Lin and Sandi Su. The theatre treat for the girls was in honor of Patti Lin's ninth birthday. Mrs. Snyder (Fashion Designer of Sixth Avenue Originals) and her daughters, in identical frocks of black and white import ed gingham, caused amusement by their very evident enjoyment of the rip roaring melodrama.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Leidig, just returned from a fortnight's wing ding in the south, paid an overnight visit to Lacy and Jack Faia. They reported that all is merry with the Faia trio, that includes tiny Melissa.

'Tribute to Courage' Films Shown

Monterey Peninsula Committee for Employment of the Handicapped had a "coffee break" meeting in the newly re-opened Sanchez Panza Coffee House in Monterey this morning at 10 o'clock with the Rev. Morse Trine the principal speaker. His topic was directed to city employed school councilors on the importance of creating a more favorable climate for the handicapped who are able to compete in the industrial and business worlds. A film, "Tribute to Courage" narrated by Dave Brinkley was shown. It is the story of Emik Avakian, internationally honored cerebral palsy victim known as "the electronics wizard of the wheel chair."

Ben Gets Bed's-eye View of Series

Genial, redheaded Ben Updike, Carmel character and owner of Kip's meat department for the past 20 years, says from his hospital bed in Community Hospital, "Take the bitter with the sweet and you'll find the sweets add up way ahead of the grief. Take me, I've had a front row seat for the World Series and all these pretty nurses looking in! - I didn't really fall on purpose, but to watch those Dodgers without bothering about steaks and chops, the T.V. never seemed sweeter!"

Faithful Fans Feast and Frolic

Going on the premise that triumph as well as misery likes company, a group of World Series fans lunched and watched T.V. together last week, to cheer or groan together, as the final inning approached.

Hosting Wednesday's luncheon were the Richard Osbornes of Pebble Beach. On Thursday the same enthusiasts lunched and watched at the Carmel residence of the F. Robert Smiths. Friday was travel day, no luncheon. But Saturday found the same staunch supporters of our national game at the Pebble Beach home of the Henry Morgans.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Arch Butts, Jr., of Pebble Beach entertained on Sunday. Cheers and victory toasts climaxed the luncheon as well as the World Series.

pital, he was X-rayed and a back injury was discovered. Whether it is the result of surgical wizardry or the outcome of the World Series, Ben plans to go home today, cured and convinced that it's a great world.

A board member of Carmel Kiwanis, with a perfect attendance record for more than 10 years, Ben needn't worry, his absence last week and this week won't go against him.

At one period of his busy life Ben played with the Cincinnati Reds. He's still a pretty fine twirler.

Lawyers' Wives Wine Tasting Party, Oct.

"Taste of Autumn" will be the theme of the Table Setting Wine Tasting Contest Party to be held Saturday, Oct. 26, by the Lawyers' Wives of Monterey County, at Monterey County Fair grounds. Wines will be donated by the Beringer's Wines Company and proceeds of the affair will benefit the County's Legal Aid Society.

Entrants for table settings, already registered, include, Tau Mu, Senior Citizens of Pacific Grove, Fort Ord Officers' Wives. Also, Monterey County Legal Secretaries, the Lukemia Society of Monterey Peninsula, Crippled Children and Adults Society of Monterey Peninsula and Salinas Jaycettes (Salinas Wives of Salinas Junoir Chamber of Commerce).

Registration is still open for entrants and may be made by calling Mrs. George Walker, 624-2037; Mrs. Richard Willsdon, 624-8851 or Mrs. Maxine Morris, 375-9427. Tickets may be purchased by telephoning the same numbers.

LAW IN ACTION

SETTLEMENTS PREFERRED

"We settled our case out of court," you may hear.

Today's lawyers and their clients have changed in the last 50 years. Long ago a trial over a few dollars could pull in a crowd for miles around and keep tongues wagging for weeks, even years.

Today with movies, the automobile, and TV and radio, to say nothing of widespread newspaper coverage, most legal contests seem to have lost the old popular appeal. The standing-room-only trials are now comparatively rare. Few attend trials unless they are dramatic.

Lawyers, their clients, and courts know full well that in all lawsuits one party loses. And so, many litigants make concessions rather than risk loss.

Courts encourage settlements which seem to satisfy most litigants and certainly save tax money and court time. Indeed the Canons of Ethics of the American Bar Association declare the desirability of amicable settlements rather than prolonged lawsuits.

Much recent court reform has helped this trend along.

In pretrial hearings in both the federal and California courts the judge sits down with the lawyers on both sides to see how far they can go to agree on the facts. In this process they often also arrive at mutually agreeable settlements.

Further, both sides in most lawsuits can demand to examine much of the evidence that in the old days would come out only in formal hearings. This evidence includes facts of medical examinations and lists of witnesses. The witnesses can be called in before the trial and questioned. This again saves trial time and more often than not leads to out-of-court settlements.

Nearly 95 per cent of personal injury cases which arise in automobile accident cases in California are negotiated outside of court.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

'Wages of Sin'
Draws Praise

"THE WAGES OF SIN" a stirring moral drama of the 1860's opened Friday night before an enthralled and enthusiastic audience in the historic First Theatre of Monterey. Freed of today's inhibitions, the spectators sighed lustily with the downtrodden maiden, hissed the villain, marveled at the beauty of the heroine and applauded uproariously when love and virtue rewarded the handsome hero with an embrace (not too torrid) of his heart's desire.

Director Al Olinger, adhering without compromise to the script of a century ago, presented a cast of young and talented actors and actresses, authentically costumed in clothes of the period they portrayed.

In the leading role of the young and trusting cleric, "George Brand," Bob Nelson of the Defense Language Institute brought warmth and sincerity to his character, winning cheers for his victory over the sinful scoundrel Stephen Marley played by Carl Gewirtz, a fellow student at the Language School. Mr. Gewirtz won many rewarding hisses for his wholehearted portrayal of a heartless villain. Royal Eshleman, a veteran of Peninsula little theatre productions, bewhiskered for his current role of the kindly but bewildered father and guardian of young maidens, gave a polished and convincing performance.

Patricia Ramsey, long established as the First Theatre's leading lady, classically beautiful and an accomplished actress, played the role of Ruth Hope, maiden and mother with finesse and tender appeal. While Madeline Hicks, the First Theatre's character actress won applause at every appearance.

In supporting roles Leanne O'Shea, Marabee Rush and Laverne Seeman, also, Art Aceto, Lee Dinks and Wayne Edwards contributed talent and enthusiasm to the success of "The Wages of Sin."

The acts in olio that followed the intermission (when the en-

Hurlburt said, "but by the history, recounted to us by Al Olinger, the managing director, and the exhibit of early American costumes in the rooms adjoining the theatre's auditorium.

"Our visit to the three Peninsula theatres has been not only refreshing and entertaining, it is a challenge."

As to the cast. This reviewer finds it difficult to name the lead, but certainly the longest role was played with a sustained lightness and velocity by Clifford Berry, experienced young man about town, beloved by famed headwaiters, theatre ticket brokers and ladies of the evening, a gay blade, but never a villain.

Peter De Bono, as the younger brother, brought to his role a youthful naivete and exuberance that won the hearts of everyone in the audience, fathers who remembered their early twenties, mothers who thought of their own sons growing up, and as to the younger spectators — Peter is a very handsome lad!

Sam Karas, as Poppa, tough, blustering, outrageously sentimental, successful New Yorker, a push over in the hands of his family, was riotous, his performance quite flawless, although, accustomed to a larger auditorium, Mr. Karas was, we felt apt to give too much scope to his resonant voice.

In the role of Moma, the Peninsula's zany character actress, Betty Fowlston, with her heart burn, her smothering mother love and subtle handling of Poppa, was hilarious in her creation of a character long to be remembered.

Studio Theater
Has Smash Hit

When a top-side director, with a Broadway success for his recipe and a contemporary setting for his mixing bowl, blends six seasoned thespians, whips them into bubbling froth and gives the whole concoction a touch of sentiment, the result is an irresistible souffle of entertainment.

Director Charles Thomas of the Studio Theatre in Carmel has done just that.

"Come Blow Your Horn" which opened last Friday night is, unreservedly, a smash hit. A smooth sophisticated comedy, the story involves a New York Moma and Poppa, their two playboy sons and their glamorous, empty-headed ladies. The setting is the boys' apartment in the East 60's. There are no economic problems. Weighty morality questions are deftly swiped by gay humor and romantic, as well as family love, conquers all. So much for the play itself. It would be unfair to tell all and spoil your fun of seeing the problems of the two young men about town and their dumbbell girl friends unravel.

Surprise Party for Douw Smith, Cathy Clancy

Balloons, streamers and fun favors added to the gaiety of the dual surprise birthday party given last Saturday evening by the Raymond M. Smiths of Carmel for their son Douw, celebrating his 17th birthday and Cathy Clancy, daughter of the John A. Clancys of Carmel whose 16th birthday was last Thursday.

The young guests, school friends of Cathy and Douw, really kept the secret and the occasion was a true "surprise." Dancing, playing ping pong and darts and enjoying the festive supper, were: the Misses Debbie Smith (Douw's sister), Pam Talbot, Sue Durney, Sally Leonard, Lyn Belcher, Pam Hately, Chloe O'gara, Katie Dickson, Tina Stanford and Debbie, daughter of the Robert Smiths. The boys included Gardner Combs, Nat Owings, Efrem Zimbalist III, Gordon von Richter, Peter Page, Chris Key, Mike Federighi, Mike Fisher, Chad Lamberson and Kirk Hayden.

Cathy is a student at Santa Catalina School for Girls and Douw attends the Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach.

Studio Hit

Youthful Roselle Weinfield as "Peggy" beautiful but dumb, answer to the playboy's dream, was terrific. Her every wiggle, her insatiable desire to be bitten on the neck, her complete unawareness of morality were in character. And the character added up to affectionate audience approval.

Certainly, if one finds difficulty in selecting the male lead in "Come Blow Your Horn" there can be no doubt about the leading lady. Myrtlerose Craig, the suave New Yorker in love, but not to be fooled with, elegant in stunning fashions, a pure delight to look upon as well as listen to, played her role with highly professional polish.

Honors for the set go to Nick Le Feuvre, Jr., who is also stage manager; costumes by Adele Bramlet.

We cannot resist a tribute to the chef responsible for the excellent dinner that precedes the show in the Studio Theatre-Restaurant.

Betty Hackett and Royden Martin, producers and owners of the Studio have yet another winner in "Come Blow Your Horn" playing weekends. We advise reservations.

Wages of Sin

(Continued from Page Six) tire audience deserts their wooden benches and crowds the nineteenth century "bar" for drinks of pop and bags of peanuts) were a gay frolic for all.

Outstanding nonsense was the wicked "Rebecca Came Back from Mecca" delightfully danced, outrageously sung and wonderfully costumed. E.S.P., the mindreading act by Master of Ceremonies Bob Nelson and director of the olio acts Patricia Ramsey, completely baffled the audience and, we suspect, Miss Ramsey too.

The Singing School encouraged grandmas as well as teenagers in the audience to shout their best.

No First Theatre performance would be complete without the traditional "Bushes in the Bottom of the Garden" and the grand finale when the entire cast waves to the audience and the audience applauds roundly, but with a touch of regret that the evening has to end.

Rhoda Johnson is to be applauded for her excellent costuming. And cheers for Susan See at the piano.

Sets by Joyce and Al Olinger lent charm and authenticity to the production.

For residents of the Peninsula, going to the First Theatre of Monterey is as essential as visiting the beach — it's a happy "must" for every member of the family. For visitors, a tip, take away with you a bit of Monterey Peninsula history and the unforgettable memory of an evening fun, stolen from an era long past.

KRML Will Broadcast Philharmonic Concerts

The concerts of the 1963-1964 season of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra will be broadcast live, exclusively on the Monterey Peninsula by Radio Station KRML (1410) during the next eight months, according to Sam S. Smith, owner of the Carmel Valley radio station. The two hour broadcast is logged for 12 noon each Sunday, with the initial concert scheduled for October 6. All but four of the season's concerts will initiate from Philharmonic Hall in New York City's famed Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

The concerts are made possible for live broadcast through direct transmission over telephone lines to a network of chosen radio stations from coast to coast. Conductors for the 1963-1964 series will be Leonard Bernstein, Music Director of the New York Philharmonic; George Szell, and Josef Krips. In addition, several of the broadcasts will be conducted by specially chosen young conductors.

Radio station KRML, now in its third year, specially features classics in literature and music in its daily programming. Its offices are located in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center at the entrance to Carmel Valley.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

Bonsai, the age old Japanese art form that has developed over the course of eight centuries, the art of growing miniature trees in containers, is delightfully expressed by Douglas Madsen of Big Sur, in a collection begun many years ago. Mr. Madsen started his "miniatures" from seeds planted in terra cotta pots, unusual pieces of lava rock and in concrete planters of his own creating. Among these diminutive trees is a 15-year-old redwood, several Japanese pines, an eastern holly in a hand-made container, a peach and apricot tree, an incense cedar, and one of the rare and lovely Santa Lucia firs. Artist mosaicist Madsen has placed his splendid collection at the Big Sur Bazaar, Big Sur. The Bazaar is situated on Highway One, a short distance south of Pfeiffer State Park where the arts and crafts of residents of Big Sur and environs are made available to the public.

The Point Sur Light Station of the United States Coast Guard, that unmistakable landmark between Carmel and Big Sur, near Highway One, is open to visitors daily weekdays from 1 to 3 and Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 1 to 4 p.m. For the most pleasant visit it is well to choose a clear, calm day and allow sufficient time to walk from the parking area, at the foot of the hill to the station, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile. Visitors are not permitted to drive to the top.

Point Sur Light Station has been in continuous operation since 1887 when it was built atop the majestic hill. The light, constructed in France by Barbier and Fenestre, is made up of a series of magnifying lenses which produce 1,600,000 candlepower. A single 1,000-watt bulb placed within the lamp (and magnified) can be seen 23 miles on a clear night, and is turned on one hour before sunset and turned off one hour after sunrise and is also turned on in daytime hours if the weather is cloudy or foggy and the visibility is less than five miles.

The light station is situated 270

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harding Swenson (Carol Anne McCallum) whose wedding took place last Saturday.

Carol Anne McCallum Weds Charles Harding Swenson

The Pebble Beach home of her parents was the setting for the wedding of Carol Anne McCallum and Charles Harding Swenson last Saturday afternoon.

Carol Anne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Byron McCallum of San Francisco and Pebble Beach and Charles is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swenson of Minneapolis, Minnesota. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

The bride is a graduate of the Sarah Dix Hamlin School in San Francisco and attended the University of California in Berkeley.

For her wedding Carol Anne wore a street length pale pink brocade and chiffon sheath with matching hat and shoes. Her traveling costume was a three-piece cream colored wool ensemble, lynx trimmed, with matching hat. Her bag and shoes were of brown alligator.

Victoria (Viki) McCallum was her sister's only attendant. As maid of honor, Viki wore a chiffon sheath of robin's-egg blue with matching accessories. A 1963 graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls, Viki is now attending the University of Southern California where she has recently pledged Alpha Phi Sorority.

Charles selected his long time friends, Stanley Mertel to act as best man and William Bronson as usher, both of San Francisco.

For her daughter's wedding

Mrs. McCallum wore a tunic of pale green brocade with matching brocade slippers.

Carol's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Harold Sessions Bowers, wore a gown of shell pink silk, appliqued in seed pearls. Her high silk turban and shoes matched her gown.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Superior Court Judge Lawson, longtime friend of the McCallum family. The couple exchanged vows under a Japanese manzanita tree, garlanded in hanging white wisteria and pond lillies.

Following the reception, held in the drawing room which opens onto a patio overlooking the McCallum's spectacular Japanese tea gardens, the wedding breakfast was served to half a hundred guests. Winning delighted appreciation from all was the beautiful and unique wedding cake in the form of a fleur-de-lis.

Upon return from their honeymoon in Mexico, the young couple will reside in San Francisco, where Mr. Swenson is in business.

As recently as 10,000 years ago, sea level was 200 feet below its present level, geologists believe.

Conservationists fear that more North American bird species will become extinct in the next 50 years than in the past 5,000 years.

Woman's Club Card Party Oct. 14

The Card Committee of the Carmel Women's Club, consisting of Mrs. Eugene Ingalls, Chairman, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Bird, Miss Agnes C. Leining and Mrs. James E. Staveley will greet members and guests at their first card party of the season next Monday with some new tables, new table covers, new cards, and the promise of an interesting year during the coming season. The Committee has prepared to offer cards to suit everyone's desire - Progressive bridge, plain bridge, and canasta. They ask that members planning to attend advise by or before tomorrow. Phone Mrs. Ingalls at 624-2849. Refreshments will be served at

• Pop (Cecil) Smith is in the news again. He has just been notified by his daughter, Mrs. Ludwig L. Kaftan, the former Grace Mary Smith, that she and Dr. Kaftan are grandparents, and that makes Pop a great grandfather.

Pop's first great grandchild, Ludwig L. Kaftan III, is the son of Lt. and Mrs. Ludwig L. Kaftan II, of Los Angeles. Col. Lt. Kaftan are grandparents, and that the U.S. Marines at Quantico, Virginia.

Pop Smith was honorably discharged from the U.S. Marine Corps in 1903 because of chronic sea sickness.

12:30, and cards will follow immediately.

Carmel BPW New Members

New members of the Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club, announced at their recent meeting, include: Mrs. Gloria Dudly, Legal Secretary to Florence Vail, Inheritance Tax Appraiser; Mrs. Beatrix Garrett and Mrs. Malcolm Setzer, California State Dept. of Employment; Mrs. Letha Lunquist, Decor Maintenance Dept.; Del Monte Lodge; Mrs. Peggy Stebbins, Ceramics and Handcrafts and Mrs. James Kramer who heads the Kramer School for Secretaries. Initiation is planned during the month of December.

Speaking at the meeting was Mr. S. Machado, trust officer of the Bank of America, Salinas. President of BPW, Mrs. Mary E. Thomson reported on the district conference which was held at the Mark Thomas Hotel in September.

Co-chairman of the meeting were Mrs. Evans Barnard and Miss Lois A. Morris.

• SUR COAST

(Continued from Page Ten) learned will be considered in relation to other areas in California that need creative land use planning, with special attention given to the Lake Tahoe region and the Scenic Highway Bill. Throughout the seminar there will be a consideration of the general aims and philosophy behind planning, and one session will be devoted solely to utopian thinking about what California could do.

Construction of a new outdoor week at Big Sur Hot Springs swimming pool was begun this Lodge, and with the recent completion of the bridge at Hot Springs Creek on Highway One and the subsequent new approach to the Lodge, landscaping crews are now in the process of planting ground cover and trees in the newly prepared areas.

MPVS Presents Gift to Hospital

Of benefit to the entire Monterey Peninsula was the gift of $1690.00 voted at the general meeting of Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services last Friday to the Community Hospital. The money is for the purchase for use by the hospital of a cryostat. This enables the operating surgeon to determine the nature of the tissue within five minutes or while the patient is still on the operating table.

Acknowledgements were read by Mrs. Wm. Howard Church, corresponding secretary, from Mrs. Byington Ford on behalf of Children's House for $2500.00 and from Mrs. Ruth Sarett on behalf of Carmel Town House for $1500.00. Mrs. W. Lincoln Noelle, president called the meeting to order at 10:40 a.m. following the refreshment period. Mrs. David Richardson, acting hospitality chairman, assisted by Mrs. Leonard Redfield, Mrs. Wilma Lazenby and Mrs. Lichty served coffee and crackers from a table decorated with a floor-plan of the various booths of the MPVS Flea Market held in the Exhibition Building of the Monterey County Fairgrounds on Tuesday.

Camera Club Names

Award Winners

At the meeting held last Thursday, judges for the Slide of the Year Contest at Padre Trails Camera Club chose the slide taken by Mrs. Kay B. Chase for the award. Print of the Year and Cover Picture awards went to Col. E. L. Modlin.

Judges for the evening were William Shirey of Pacific Grove, Dale Hale of Carmel, and Chester W. Smith of Monterey. Bill Shirey presented an instruction program on making pictures of still life and table top subjects which met with much interest on the part of the club members.

New members elected were Rolf Evans of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yost of Pebble Beach. Refreshments were served by Miss Barbara Gurley and her committee: Mrs. Gladys Willey, Miss Louise Van Sickie, and Miss Beatrice Ralston.

Daughter of the Robert Devlins Christened

Jane Valentine Devlin, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas Devlin of San Francisco, was christened Sunday, October 6, at one o'clock at All Saints Episcopal Church in Carmel, with only family members in attendance.

Godparents for the young lady are Mrs. John Swain of San Francisco, Miss Bailey Logan of Hillsborough and Charles Crocker of Pebble Beach.

Grandparents are Mrs. Arthur C. Devlin of Pebble Beach and Sacramento, and the late Mr. Devlin; Mrs. R. Lent Hooker of Burlingame, and Thomas McConnell Bunn of Pebble Beach.

Following the service a family luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur C. Devlin.

Sacramento County was one of the original 27 counties created in 1850.

Aboard Hornet

Thomas M. Pfeiffer, radioman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Pfeiffer of Carmel Calif., is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Hornet which recently completed training exercises off the Northern coast of California.

The Hornet entered San Francisco Bay Sept. 20 and moored at Alameda before departing Sept. 23 for her operational port, Long Beach, Calif.

During World War II Hornet took part in raids on Palau, Yap, Truk, the capture of Saipan, and both battles of the Philippine Sea. After Leyte operations, she saw action in the Battle of the Surigao Strait and in the attacks on Northern Luzon and Formosa. In addition, Hornet received the Pre-

Wind
IN THE
BY

Up to now, this column has always concerned itself with another kind of writing. But this week I want to relate something that happened to me last Saturday night, here in Carmel.

Let me also point out my use of the word "relate." This is not a report, since the uncorroborated statement of one person can scarcely be called a report.

I had stopped at Mission Ranch to listen to the singing at around ten, then left at ten-thirty-five. I drove to my house, then decided to go down to the beach to get a little air before going to bed. I drove to the foot of Eighth and left the car.

The tide was coming in to meet the rising moon, and the surf was crashing high. Somewhat south of where I had left the car, probably around Tenth, there was a log on which I sat for about fifteen minutes. It was very peaceful. From time to time I could hear the distant shouts coming from the people around the fire which I could just see over my right shoulder. The chill began to come through my sports coat, and I got up to leave.

I angled back toward where I left the car, and as I passed about fifty or sixty feet from the beach party, two of the celebrants broke off and headed up toward Scenic, angling in the same general direction I was traveling.

Suddenly I realized what was happening. One of the men was standing, facing me with his hands on his hips. The other was behind me to the right. He said, "Do you want him?" The one in front shook his head, but still blocked my way.

"What do you want?" I asked. No answer. I moved to the left as

Letters . . . to The Editor

Editor Carmel Pine Cone
Dear Editor:

I wish to take issue with the statement in last week's column, "Paws for Comment," regarding the vacuum cleaning of the cats. I have been vacuuming mine for some years and they love it. In fact, I sometimes have the impression that they think I should spend all morning cleaning them instead of the house.

In fact to get cats to like this, however, you have to take time and use patience. The first thing to do is to leave the vacuum cleaner and attachments lying around alive on the floor where the cat or cats can investigate them to see if they are alive and dangerous. After they find out they are not, you can take the dust brush by itself and gently brush the cat. After it has adjusted to this fasten it to the hose and do the same thing without turning the cleaner on. When the cat accepts this, quietly turn on the cleaner and chances are you can thereafter vacuum the cat along with the furniture and rugs. Happy cat cleaning!

Very truly yours,
Helen Lambert

Waltz through washday with a dryer!

The tempo of washday is relaxed when you have an automatic dryer. You don't have to lift and lug those back-breaking baskets of wet wash any more. (The average homemaker handles about two tons of wet wash a year.)

Ironing is easier, too. New damp-dry settings make clothes come out just right for ironing. And some fabrics come out so wrinkle-free, they need no ironing at all.

You'll be able to dry your wash at any hour of the day or night in any weather. Laundry comes out soft, fluffy... looks and feels good. And a dryer's ultra-violet light gives your clothes the sweet scent of summer sunshine.

You'll save money on clothing—especially for "small-fry". Clothing lasts longer, and fewer clothes and linens are needed when you can wash and dry any time. Why not waltz down to your Reddy Recommended Dealer's today?

"Grecian Graces" collage by Vero Jim in week end show at Pine Inn

A unique art show, featuring the collages of James and Vera Smith, will be held at Pine Inn this Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily. The widely diversified collages of Vero Jim have already attracted favorable criticism in Southern California and this is their first showing in this area. The Smiths have been established in La Jolla for the past 10 years as artists and antiquarians, turning their talents to this new art form about two years ago.

Local High School Writers Win U. C. Awards

Andrew Miller, the son of Mrs. Valentine Miller of Carmel Highlands, and a Carmel High School junior, was named third prize winner, one of 900 young writers who competed in the University of California Department of Dramatic Art and Speech Contest, held last spring. His winning essay, "Silver Dishes are as Good as Birch Bark," is proudly presented to Pine Cone readers.

Jim Miller, son of the James Millers of Carmel Valley and a Carmel High School senior, was the winner of the fourth place prize in the same contest for his poem, "Woyzeck." Jim's second poem, "Trails in the Sky," received honorable mention.

"SILVER DISHES ARE AS GOOD AS BIRCH BARK"

Eighteenth and nineteenth century America was the proving-ground for various philosophies and formulas for the "good life." Two of these, Deistic-rationalism and Transcendentalism, can be compared by discussing the concepts of life and morality of their spokesmen. Benjamin Franklin, as a representative Deist of the Enlightenment, wrote, in the form of his Autobiography, a bible of reason and materialism. Seventy-five years later Henry David Thoreau published a refutation of Franklin and an exposition of Transcendentalism called Walden.

In his autobiography Franklin implies that a good life is material existence in comfortable circumstances. The goal of life is a position of social affluence, attained by strict observance of a moral code set up for that purpose. The successful man becomes wealthy through reason, industry, and practicality. Thoreau, however, says that life is a recognition of living, and that one is not alive until one is awake to reality. Wealth and social position are irrelevant, and morality is obedience to one's own inner laws. Success has nothing to do with material gain, for "... if the day and night are such that you greet them with joy, and life emits a fragrance like flowers and sweet-scented herbs, is more elastic, more starry, more immortal, that is your success... The greatest gains and values are farthest from being appreciated."

This basic difference between the two concepts of life explains why, while Thoreau and Franklin often preach the same virtue, their reasons for doing so are entirely dissimilar. Both strongly support industry, Franklin because hard work is the only way to get ahead in the world, Thoreau because sloth leads to ignorance and sensuality. Franklin advocates temperance because a cool head and keen judgment are needed for business, Thoreau because over-indulgence removes one farther than ever from reality. They both say that frugality and simplicity are necessary for a good life, but once again they give different reasons. Franklin advises us to moderate our tastes and save our pennies to accumulate a fortune; Thoreau urges us to dispense with superficialities, such as money, and discover the essentials of life.

About sincerity Franklin says, "Think innocently and justly." Thoreau says, in effect, "Think honestly, and be true to yourself." There is, however, one "virtue" on which both the Transcendentalist and the Deist agree: tranquillity. "Be not disturbed at trifles, or at writes one, and the other, "Let us... not be thrown off the track by every nutshell and mosquito's wing that falls on the rails."

Franklin's preoccupation with the mundane and the practical is reflected in his Autobiography, just as Thoreau's Transcendental-ist notions about hidden reality to fill the potholes of Philadelphia; therefore it is a ridiculous waste of time. To Thoreau silver dishes are as good as birch bark, and the Philadelphians had better look to themselves before worrying about their streets.

Announcement

We have opened a branch store for your parking convenience! Two book stores — one on Ocean Avenue and the new one at The Carmel Rancho Shopping Center. This shop will be known as "THE WELLS AT THE RANCHO — Henry Meade Williams — Books."

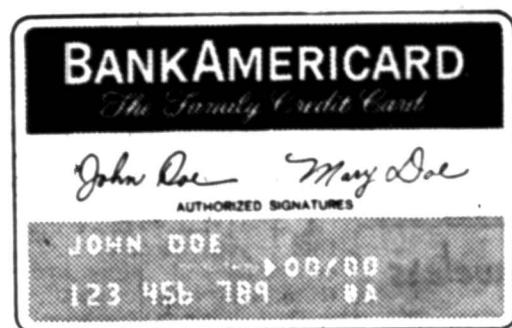

We will carry the same excellent stock of new and basic books as we have on Ocean Avenue. Mr. John Alexander will continue to order especially for you any book in print you want. The whole staff (sounds big!) will take turns running the Wells at the Rancho. Park your car in front of our door and come in and see our new Christmas books, displayed on shelves and counters expressly made for The Wells at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center at the entrance to Carmel Valley.
